

Carmel Doll Shop, Home of the Grovian Doll Museum is pleased to announce its upcoming Lunch, Listen and Learn Event

La Fiesta en Casa Paloma

Saturday, May 18, 2019

Our doors will open at 11:00 am

Registered guests are invited to spend a memorable day at the Carmel Doll Shop, where Michael Canadas and David Robinson will take guests on a very special house tour.

Known to dollhouse and miniature collectors as "The Mexican Mansion," The Grovian Doll Museum is proud to announce that the singular dollhouse has recently become part of its permanent collection.

The mansion, circa 1890, was first introduced to collectors by well-known author Flora Gill Jacobs, at her Washington Dolls' House & Toy Museum. Upon the closure of that museum, the dollhouse went on to reside at Angels Attic Museum in Santa Monica, California, whose founders won the Mexican Mansion at auction for a stunning $231,000.

The dollhouse, christened "Casa Paloma" by its new caretakers, has been cleaned, polished, and the furnishings edited, so it is now ready for visitors. Guests will be treated to an Old Monterey-style fiesta luncheon, plus a very special souvenir of the day.

The cost for this spectacular event is $85 per registrant, and attendance will be limited, so it is suggested that you sign up early. (A waiting list will be compiled after our seats have filled.)

Activities will take place at the home of
